Informing young people and students, in particular, about the social, economic, psychological and health risks associated with painful and painful violence - A team of volunteers has conducted interactive sessions, including both students and parents at community centers, Mohallas, and in villages. "Civic Will" met academics, intellectuals and activists to express their views on issues of dowry. It is time for society to become aware and understand the situation. It is for all of us to take active measures in bringing the necessary change and to stop giving or taking dowry. We all need to know that we should start evaluating our daughters first, so that others know their value once they grow up. Pressure for various reforms with various levels of government. The FAD has taken some practical steps to the cause, breaking the culture of silence, promoting positive dialogue and organizing activities to involve young people in the process of promoting the message. The programme expressed opinions and concerns not only of Pakistan, but also of Bangladesh, Nepal, India and Sri Lanka. In addition, FAD published a special edition of the "FAD projectile" (March 2003) which included the opinions of students, young people and professionals. This in turn will help her to be financially healthy and to be a contributing member of the family, giving her respect and the right state in the family. This law prohibits the practice of giving or taking dowry from both parties to a marriage. Dowry is a social evil in society, which has caused unimaginable torture and crimes against women. Evil has taken lives of women from all strata of society - either poor, middle class or rich. Normal middle and upper class backgrounds send their daughters to school, but do not emphasize career options. Very rich parents who happily support their daughters until they get married and their ability to cum a high dowry, so education and independence are a powerful and valuable gift that you can do to your daughter. Inform all interested parties, mainly young people and students, on social, economic, psychological and health hazards of dowry and violence. Women, gender, young people, rights. University students and young leaders in development are paying attention to violence in dowry, as evidenced by a number of medium-term research documents and thesis produced on this issue over the past two years in Pakistan.... The country's 2005 gender assessment report launched by the World Bank In 2006, he recognised the impact of FAD in Pakistani society. This law also punishes demanding and advertising skills. A renowned NGO [Non-governmental Organization] Pakistan Family Planning Association launched a project with EU assistance [the European Union] on the issue of women's combustion. Who can be punished under this act? In addition, raising awareness and awareness seminars involving role models, development professionals, students and representatives of public institutions were conducted on a quarterly basis to provincial capitals. In society, many times it has been seen that they are seen as a responsibility and are often subjected to submission and receive a second-hand treatment may be in education or other services. FAD has secured a continuousof the community also beyond the period of the project through the creation in 2003 of Fadan (Fight Against Dowry Advocacy Network). The poor sections of the company that send their daughters to work and earn earn money, toÅ ÅÅ Å help them save up for her dowry. National, regional, and local print media were also involved. Based on the philosophy "When a gift becomes demand it is a form of violence", this national-level advocacy network against dowry violence worked to strengthen partnership with stakeholders as part of its effort to create and sustain a social movement against dowry by demand. Click here to read the FAD resolution online. (Editor's note: For example, according to a Wikipedia entry titled "Bride Burning in South Asia", "[c]ases of bride burning have been reported in Pakistan. Note that the more serious crimes in relation to dowry such asÅ Ådowry death andÅ Åcruelty from dowry demands are punishable under the general law on crimes eÅÅÅ the Indian Penal Code, 1860. Important steps to eradicate dowry Educate your daughters Encourage them to have their own career Teach them to be independent and responsible Treat them (your daughter) equally without any discrimination Do not encourage the practice of giving or taking dowry Effect on the public of the Dowry Prohibition initiative The parents don't lay enough emphasis on educating their daughters, as they feel that husbands will support them latter. Specific examples of programme activities include: Investigating and identifying perceptions, attitudes, practices in connection with dowry - One research focus was identifying power relationships in decision making among men and women. Large posters accommodated 200 signatures each. Communication Strategies:Å Å As part of this effort, FAD worked with media, youth, and all interested groups to highlight the costs and consequences of the custom and institution of dowry. Further, dowry itself is a form of violence - not only against women but men also - and is a public health issue. For instance, a poster competition involving young people as participants and judges took place in October 2002. More knowledge from User 6323 A The series was produced according to the show; It is designed to trigger the understanding of the problem of the problem and the continuous efforts to deal with it through local attempts to challenge existing legal blocks. Sachet's position on the question of the dowry is based on the belief that the dowry is a crime. According to the organizers, "FAD has generated a speech in progress in traditional printing and in the electronic media on the issues of the dowry. It implies a duty for the parties that get married to make a list of gifts and gifts. Other sessions included students from different universities e university is due to the system of dowry that the daughters are not as evaluated as much as the sons. Fad also used the internet as a means to communicate with the interested parties on the project. If the dowry has been exchanged in any case at a wedding, it imposes A duty was the person to whom he was given to give it to the bride. In particular, a public service message/point broadcast on Pakistani television in March 2002, various television appartions to share the details on the FAD occurred. Anyway person who gives or takes Dowry (minimum punishment of five years); any person who helps someone to give or take dowry; whoever requests the dowry in some way; anyone advertises and offers to give money or property in exchange for his married son, daughter or relative; Anyone who publishes these advtising; Anyone who does not deliver the dowry to the bride within the specified time. The sharing of personal experiences with dowry through poetry (click here to read examples) and a book (click here for details). Fad's institutionalization in the form of Fadan (Fight Against Dowry Advocacy Network) is itself an impact indicator. "FAD page on the sachet website; and and -email of the Aeghi Resources Center at the communication initiative on 27 May 2003, 3 2008, and 20 September 2008. In particular, the "Youth views" segment explored the opinions of Rural and Urban Urban Young people regarding their perceptions, attitudes and knowledge about marriage expenses, customs, traditions, the system of dowry, the violence of the gifts and their potential to change the negative practices that have become norms. In addition, according to the envelope, the courts should take "Suo Moto" ("on his own motion") against the dead of married girls (especially spouses) under unexplained circumstances such as the death of the stove. Ansar Burney Trust International states that in some cases accidents are designed (such as tampering with a kitchen stove to cause the victim's death) or the victims are burned and the attack is disguised as an accident or suicide. ") To engage the mass media in the promotion and dissemination of awareness against the repercussions of dowry. Involvement of mass media in the increasing awareness of these dangers - professionals were asked to act as pressure groups in political institutions to favor an accurate portrait of women in the mass media. True stories, of victims and survivors of dowry were included in seven episodes. The logo of a silver ribbon was selected in July 2006 at the second FAD national seminary to portray the elements of simplicity, austerity and courage against the evils of the demand. Question.
